President's Message - Bette Sydelko

Hello to everyone! It has been a wild and woolly winter; let's hope it is coming to an end soon! Your OHSLA Executive Committee has worked through the winter months to continue to carry out the business of this organization. To that end, here are some tidbits of news.

First and foremost, please make your plans to attend the OHSLA Spring meeting on Friday, April 15th, 2011 at Doctor's Hospital West in Columbus. Stacy Gall, OHSLA President-elect, has invited Anne Gilliland, Head of the Copyright Management Office at the Prior Health Sciences Library, OSU, to present her 4-hour MLA CE course "Copyright for Health Science Librarians." This is normally a longer course, so I'm sure it will be jam packed with helpful information. The registration form is included at the end of this newsletter. Please note the change in our usual meeting schedule. In response to a discussion at the fall meeting we have added a half hour to our lunch expressly to provide networking time. Come a little earlier, stay a little later, and in the middle of the day have more time for conversation with friends and make new acquaintances!

Thanks to all of you who took the time to respond to our survey of health science librarians across the state. Thanks also to Marlene Porter, past-past president, for putting it together and analyzing the results. Take a minute to read Marlene's summary article on pages 3 - 4. Remember the Executive Committee is open to your suggestions for changes in what we do and how we do it. This is your organization!

Soon you will be asked to vote in our election for new officers. This time we will be voting for the following positions: president-elect, treasurer, and RAC representative. Voting will be by electronic ballot as it was last year. Watch for an email message and vote right away so it doesn't get lost in your overstuffed email boxes!

In February you received a survey from Lisa McCormick regarding health literacy and the role it is playing either in your library or your institution. If you have not taken the time to fill out the survey, please do so. The more information we can gather the better we will be able to help each other work with our institutions on this important communication and patient safety issue.

This is my last President's Message! My time as your President is coming to a close (June is right around the corner!) and I want to wish you continued success in all that you do for yourselves, your organizations, and your profession. Thank you for allowing me to serve as your President.

Wishing for spring...

Warm regards,
Bette

OHSLA Fall 2010 Meeting Summary - submitted by Stacy Gall

The OHSLA Fall 2010 meeting was held at the Nutter Center at Wright State University in Dayton, Ohio on Monday October 18, 2010. Pat Wagner from Pattern Research, Inc. presented a 4-hour MLA CE course on "Everyday Leadership." Twenty-eight members attended this course which included discussions on overcoming leadership barriers, types of leadership, dealing with risk, and applying leadership.

Evaluations rated the meeting program overwhelming "very good" or "excellent." Pat received raves for her presentation. There were a couple of comments that the time for the course was too short. The Berry Room in the Nutter Center was also rated "very good" or "excellent" by a majority of the evaluations.

Slightly over half (60%) reported that their institutions provided funds to attend the meeting. Attendance was almost evenly split between hospital and academic librarians. The southwest area of Ohio had the most attendees at the fall meeting with 11, followed by central Ohio with 8, northeast Ohio with 4, and one each from northwest Ohio and outside Ohio.

Suggestions for future programs were teaching EBP, and the politics of hospital/library systems.

OHSLA 2011 Survey Results - Submitted by Marlene Porter, Past President

The Past-President project for this year was to survey health science librarians in Ohio which included members and non-members of OHSLA. The survey was based upon a survey done by the Health Science Librarians of Illinois (HSLI). The one aim was to find out why people may or may not join OHSLA and attend the meetings. Find the complete results at the OHSLA Members Only link.

- Three emails were sent (December 20, 2010, January 4 and 10, 2011).
- A Google form was used to create the survey and collect the data
- A graph of the daily responses displayed spikes in access around the dates when the emails were sent.
- 77 out of 151 people responded
- 11 information gathering questions; 4 demographic questions and the last question was for suggestions/comments

Highlights from the survey:

- 87% of the respondents would participate in an online (virtual) meeting
- 56 % indicated that changing the annual OHSLA meeting to a virtual/online format would increase the likelihood of their participation although 31% said it would probably not affect the likelihood of their participation

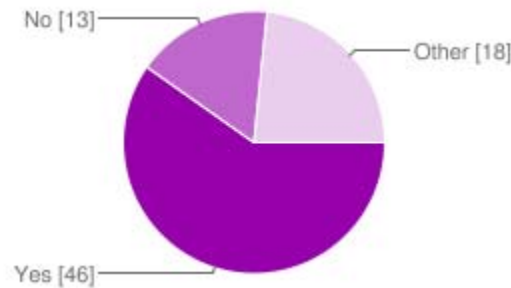

Factors which influenced decision to attend or not attend an OHSLA meeting:

	Highly	Moderately	Very Little	Not-At-All	Response Count

Spread the Word about the benefits of OHSLA Membership

– Membership Chair Jodith Janes

Are there librarians in your area that are not members of OHSLA? Your help is needed. Please send names and addresses to Jodith Janes and she will email an invitation to join OHSLA for 2010-2011.

Volunteer to help with Membership:

Needed someone from each 'corner' of the state to help spread the word about the benefits of membership in OHSLA. Help make sure that all librarians in your area receive an OHSLA membership form for information for membership in 2010-2011. Spread the word to others you might know who would be interested...

Please email Jodith Janes (janesj@ccf.org or jodithjanes@sbcglobal.net).

News from around the state

Northeast

Humility of Mary Health Partners (St. Elizabeth Health Center in Youngstown, St. Joseph Health Center in Warren, and St. Elizabeth Boardman Campus) has recently integrated the formerly separate departments of the Medical Library and the Jeghers Medical Index into the newly formed Library Services Department. Kristine Benishek, MLS, was hired in February 2011 as Director of Library Services. She will be overseeing system wide library operations as well as planning a renovation of the library at St. Elizabeth Health Center for later this year.

Southwest

Miami Valley Hospital, Craig Memorial Library in Dayton, Ohio recently opened the Health Information Center in the hospital's new patient tower. The Health Information Center is for patients, family members, public, and employees seeking health information. Our library staff will provide written health information free of charge or those visiting may use our computers to locate the information on their own. The center offers a nice seating area, four computers with Internet access and a conference room to view DVDs as well as use for meetings with medical or nursing staff.

Ohio Collaborative for Clear Health Communication

- Submitted by Lisa McCormick

The consequences of poor health literacy are taking on greater importance and receiving increased attention, particularly, in hospitals and medical centers across Ohio. Changes in reimbursement by Medicare are prompting these organizations to look at factors contributing to rehospitalization - being readmitted to the hospital in 30 days or less after discharge - for chronic conditions such as heart failure or diabetes. The Ohio Department of Insurance and the Ohio Hospital Association are currently working with 18 hospitals in the state on the STAAR initiative. The STAAR (State Action on Avoidable Rehospitalizations) initiative "aims to reduce rehospitalizations by working across organizational boundaries to engage payers, state and national stakeholders, patients, families and caregivers." The Institute for Healthcare Improvement (IHI), an independent not-for-profit advocate for improved quality in health care, manages STAAR initiatives across the country. The STAAR initiative is helping to spread key changes and innovations to decrease readmission rates by highlighting improvements in the transition from hospital to home.

One of the identified best practice initiatives identified by STAAR is related to interventions to improve patient engagements using principles of health literacy. Multi-disciplinary teams attempting to reduce hospital readmissions are given new reasons to examine patient education materials in the context of health literacy principles. Librarians with knowledge of principles related to health literacy and plain language may be a valuable resource to these teams.

OHSLA is conducting a survey to learn how librarians and libraries are involved in health literacy programs or initiatives throughout Ohio. The purpose of the survey is to obtain baseline information about the level of activity libraries/librarians are engaged in related to low health literacy or plain language services. If you have not already taken the survey, please consider doing so before March 28th. OHSLA Health Literacy Survey

News from Midwest Chapter/MLA

- Submitted by Stephanie Schulte, Representative at Large for Midwest Chapter/MLA

The executive board of Midwest Chapter of MLA will meet on March 25, 2011, at Cambria Suites near the Akron-Canton airport in Uniontown, Ohio. These meetings are times for the board to get together to monitor progress on yearly goals in between the annual business meetings.

Speaking of annual business meetings, the next annual meeting of the Midwest Chapter will be held October 8 through 11 in Indianapolis, Indiana, easy driving distance for many of OHSLA members. The conference, themed "Faster, Higher, Stronger", will be held at the Indianapolis Marriott Downtown. Many of the details are still in the planning stage, but I am quite certain our Indiana neighbors will give us a conference that is useful and memorable, including a sit-down dinner at the NCAA Hall of Champions on Sunday night. As a former president of the Indiana Health Sciences Librarians Association, I am personally looking forward to visiting with my Indiana friends. For those who have never attended a Midwest Chapter meeting, I highly encourage you to go. They offer many of the same CE courses that are at MLA at typically cheaper rates, usually have great programming, and the smaller atmosphere allows you to meet other librarians very easily. I have attended every year in the last five years and have enjoyed each one of them very much.

As your representative to the Midwest Chapter, I can act as a conduit between the two organizations. Please feel free to share your thoughts and concerns with me so I can relay them to the board.

Midwest MLA 2010 Wrap-Up: Madison

Madison, Wisconsin has been in the news quite a bit lately, and each time I see the Capitol, I think back to my few days in Madison in September. First of all, Madison is a lovely college city, and I would encourage you to visit if you have a chance. The farmer's market on the Capitol Square was phenomenal too! All kinds of produce, baked goods, cheeses (of course!). And so many unique places to eat along State Street and beyond.

Highlights from the conference included a keynote presentation by Dr. Dipesh Navsaria, who has an MD, an MPH and an MS (LIS). Yes, folks, he is kind of one of us. His talk was very interesting as he talked about what he learned in library school. Dr. Navsaria spoke with passion about his interests in early literacy and what can be learned about a child's development just by a physician examining the child's interaction with a book. He also spoke about how medical librarians are needed. I'm in no way doing his talk justice in this paragraph, but know that he was great.

A few of my favorite session programs were that of Building a Liaison Team, by Kelly Thormodson from the University of Iowa (see my blog post on this). We should all be working with the same level of enthusiasm as Kelly! I also enjoyed the Level of Evidence Used to Answer General Practitioners' Questions by Karen Davies, Library Advocacy by Eileen Severson and Mary Bayorgeon, and Liz Fine's Current Patterns on Engagement between Librarians and Faculty in Doctor of Nursing Practice Programs. Many other sessions are covered in the ConnectMidwest blog. I encourage you to take a look if you haven't done so already.
